Curriculum Vitae – Marija Gregov, MSc

Marija Gregov was born in Zagreb in 1996. She completed her undergraduate studies in Food Technology and her graduate studies in Food Engineering at the Faculty of Food and Biotechnology at the University of Zagreb with an average grade of 4.9. She continued her doctoral studies at the same faculty, in the scientific field of biotechnical sciences, in the field of Food technology.

From 2020 to 2023, she worked as a research assistant in the Laboratory of Water Technology at the Faculty of Food and Biotechnology at the University of Zagreb on the project Mitigating the negative impacts of climate change on the treatment of surface water accumulations when obtaining water for human consumption by flocculation and ozonation, financed by the Fund for Environmental Protection and Energy Efficiency of the Republic of Croatia, the Ministry of Environmental Protection and Energy and the European Union. In the period from 2023 to 2025, she worked as a technologist in the field of technological applications and development of bakery, pastry and confectionery technologies at the company TIM ZIP in Zagreb. Since 2025, she has been employed at the Croatian Institute of Public Health in the Department of Health Ecology, Department of Health Safety Control of Water and Water Supply.

So far, she is the author of seven scientific papers published in journals indexed in the Web of Science/Current Contents Connect databases (55 citations; h-index 5). She has participated in nine national and international scientific conferences where she presented research results and published conference posters. She was also involved in the preparation of two theses. She has received several scholarships and awards, including the scholarship of the City of Zagreb (2019/2020), two scholarships from the Ivan Bulić Foundation, the prize for the best oral presentation at the Biotechnical PhD Days 2022 and was the winner of the national competition Ecotrophelia Croatia 2019 and a participant in Ecotrophelia Europe 2019. In addition to her native Croatian, she actively speaks English (B2) and also uses French (B1) and Spanish (A2). She is a member of the Mensa Croatia.